WELCOME TO BEIJING NORMAL UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1902, Beijing Normal University (BNU) has a distinguished history of scholarship, research and training in education. The University developed from the Faculty of Education of Capital Metropolitan University, which initiated the first modern teacher training program in China. Since its foundation, BNU has led change and innovation in Chinese education and continues to do so as it moves into the new age of rapid development. BNU is a leader not only in Chinese education but also on the world stage. BNU lays great emphasis on exchange and cooperation with educational institutions nationally and internationally and is building a first-class reputation for scholarship, research and training.

The Institute of International and Comparative Education, founded in 1962, is the oldest and most influential institute for the study of comparative education in China, and is the only nationally recognized centre for comparative education. The Institute has a strong profile of national and international research and is staffed by senior faculty members. Aiming to train education professionals and carry out international and comparative education research, the Institute of International and Comparative Education is a stimulating and challenging environment which welcomes ambitious students in the field of comparative education. This program enjoys the support of the Chinese Government and strives to contribute to educational management and leadership worldwide.

INTRODUCTION TO THE PROGRAM

The International Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) is a unique program offered by the Institute of international and comparative education at Beijing Normal University with support from the Institute of International Education at Stockholm University. This program, with generous financial support from the Chinese Government, is designed to enhance educational and cultural exchange between China and other countries, and to train talented individuals who can contribute to globalization and internationalization in the fields of educational management, leadership and policy-making worldwide.

The Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) for International Students is modeled on the core-course system designed by the Institute of International Education at Stockholm University. This system has a proven track record of effectiveness in training of over 30 years, and the program at BNU is focused on a series of contemporary educational topics that are relevant to all countries, especially developing nations. These include promoting educational equality, high quality education, education for sustainable development and ICT education. Based on the rich international resources of Beijing Normal University, it has a strong team of professors and faculty members, and aims to become a high quality and world-class international program.

THE AIMS OF THE PROGRAM

The Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) for International Students aims to train talented individuals from all over the world so that they will develop a deep understanding of educational theories and acquire a wide knowledge of fundamental trends in educational reform and development worldwide. The program aims to meet the demands of the international labor market by training individuals who have highly developed international communication and educational management skills, and will go on to work in international organizations, governmental authorities, NGOs and related areas.

The objectives of the Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) for International Students include:

Educational Knowledge: understanding theories and methodologies of comparative education, major trends in international educational development and educational practices in various nations.

Educational Abilities: to possess an international perspective when analyzing issues of educational policy, management, leadership and evaluation, to identify similarities and differences in education in various countries and areas, to summarize the universal characteristics of educational development worldwide, and to learn from international experience in educational practices.

Educational Attitudes: developing an approach to analyzing international experience consciously and critically, maintaining an open mind to rich and diverse educational practices worldwide and respecting the unique characteristics of educational practices in various countries and regions.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) for International Students requires the completion of a number of credit modules and a master thesis. As a unique feature of the program, it allows students to use knowledge and abilities developed through their taught modules to examine an issue relevant to their own professional lives or interests. In this way, the program aims to develop effective managers and leaders in education.

Credits: At least 34 credits are required, including 9 core courses, and at least 2 elective courses. In addition, 1 master thesis is required for 6 credits. No fees will be charged for additional credits.

Mid-Course Examination: master's degree candidates must first pass the mid-course examination at the beginning of the third semester, and may then proceed to the master thesis-writing period. Candidates should complete at least 20 credits in the first academic year and submit a thesis proposal, to be examined and approved by their supervisors. An examining group is responsible for the examination of the thesis proposals. Those who fail to pass the examination will have the opportunity to apply for a second-round examination if they have the support of the examining group and their supervisors. If the proposal fails to pass the second-round examination, the candidate will not be permitted to continue the program.

Master Thesis: After enrollment in the Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) for International Students, the candidate should select a theme for thesis study under the direction of his/her supervisor. We encourage candidates to pursue topics relevant to their own professional backgrounds and interests. The final master thesis should be written in English and the length of the thesis should be 60-80 pages (Times New Roman 12 point font and 1.5 line spacing). A final thesis defense is required.

It is the responsibility of the candidate to ensure that his/her proposal passes the thesis proposal examination in the third semester, to submit a complete version of the thesis to the supervisor at the beginning of the fourth semester, and to submit a final version of the thesis for assessment and attend the oral defense in May of the fourth semester. The oral defense committee will assess the thesis and grade them on a scale from A to F according to their qualities. The University's Degree Evaluation Committee will finally decide whether to bestow 's degrees upon the students.

Duration: The Master Program in Educational Leadership and Policy (Comparative Education) for International Students is a 2-year program and students should complete their courses within 2 years. Graduation cannot be postponed or deferred and scholarships cannot be extended or increased. Suspension of study (and of the scholarship) will be offered according to relevant regulations, only if a candidate has exceptional circumstances which prevent continuation of study, such as health problems. The suspension shall not be longer than 1 year.

As time goes by, I feel that I'm lucky because my classmates are always around me, our teachers are very friendly and enthusiastic, our TAs are very nice and kind, and the facilities and utilities are much more than my expectation. I still feel homesick but it is great to study here. You should experience yourself !

■ PHAN Quoc Khanh from Vietnam

I have just started my study in Comparative Education at BNU, and think I made the best choice. The campus seems a small town where you can find everything you need and there is lots of sport activities and facilities. Do not worry if you cannot speak Chinese at all, like me:), the professors are fluent in English and they are available whenever you need help. Here you will find excellent quality tuition program and classmates from all over the world: come and try it yourself!

The Faculty of Education in Beijing Normal University is the best school of Education in China and I am highly enthuse to pursue this program. Comparative Education is aimed at equipping students with educational knowledge, educational abilities and educational attitudes which is the totality of knowledge needed by every educational enthusiast. BNU, noted for the best educational institution has captivating, exquisite and hygienic environment which piqued the interest of international students. The cultural diversity of students in this program presents an opportunity to appreciate other cultures and understand issues from a multidimensional perspective. You can't be left out, you should experience yourself.
