

Indigenous Peoples and Sustainable Future

This year's program will be conducted online. If you would like to take the course, please contact to the International Support Office at the Faculty of Education, Hokkaido University by Aug 13.

For this year's program, we will examine how the global problem of the corona virus pandemic is influencing life at a local level, for example, in the lives of Indigenous Peoples, what kind of problems have become visible or invisible as a result of that process, and how those problems are related to the issues revolving around achievement of the SDG goals.

Course Schedule

Mon. September 14

Morning session (9:00-12:00 JST): Lecture 1:

Sustainable Development as a Global Goal: Concepts, Issues, and Ideas
by Teaching Fellow, Tyrel Eskelson (Hokkaido University)

Afternoon session (13:00-16:00 JST): Lecture 2:

Rethinking Sustainable Development Post-Corona from the Issues Made Visible
(and Invisible) Through the COVID-19 Pandemic: With a focus on Indigenous Peoples by Professor Jeff Gayman (Hokkaido University)

Wrap-up

Tues. September 15

Morning session (9:00-12:00 JST): Lecture 3:

Socially determined health and wellbeing: COVID-19, indigenous communities, their languages, and ESD, by Associate Professor Yumiko Ohara (University of Hawai'i at Hilo)

Afternoon session: (13:00-16:00 JST), Group Work 1, facilitated by Dr. Nanako Iwasa

Wrap-up

Wed. September 16

Morning session (9:00-12:00 JST): Group Work 2, facilitated by Dr. Nanako Iwasa

Afternoon session (13:00-16:00 JST): Final Presentation

Contact

International Support Office, Faculty of Education, Sapporo, Hokkaido, JAPAN

Email: support-edu@edu.hokudai.ac.jp

<https://hokkaidosummerinstitute.oia.hokudai.ac.jp/courses/CourseDetail=U016>